LONG DISTANCE EXTENSION & DISTRIBUTION SOLUTIONS

As digital signage and DoOH (Digital Out Of Home) evolves, especially with big screens, video walls, and remote system control, sending high-quality audio and video over long distances is becoming more important. It's a crucial part of the journey from the original source to the display. So, our theme for ISE 2024 is all about efficiently moving high bandwidth content over large distances. We're excited to showcase our latest products this year, which are designed to enhance and broaden remote transmission for both IT and audio-visual systems.

SDVOE - LIVE EXPERIENCE

As a member of the SDVoE Alliance (Software Defined Video over Ethernet), we will be presenting a live installation at our stand that demonstrates the versatile possibilities of this pioneering technology. A central video wall, fed by several 4K60Hz source devices, completely controlled by an SDVoE controller unit and connected exclusively via an Ethernet switch and SDVoE transceiver. We will also be showing several smaller installations consisting of extension solutions for Touch Screens and a wide variety of transmission media for every conceivable application scenario.
